

Meet Cambridge is the official conference and events bureau for venues at the University of Cambridge, the Colleges, hotels and other unique properties in and around the city.

With a choice of over 50 spaces in and around Cambridge, from ancient Tudor College halls to contemporary lecture theatres, the Meet Cambridge portfolio has a venue for every type of event and budget, both in-person and hybrid.

The service is free of charge, saves you time and there's no obligation. With one quick enquiry the team at Meet Cambridge can check availability at all suitable venues for you.

Versatile spaces

There's huge versatility, with many spaces offering exclusive use for an event, some with attractive outside areas where you can enjoy drinks receptions, networking or team-building and depending on the venue, free on-site parking for delegate use.

Over half of the city is green space peppered with beautifully manicured gardens and venues and activities are all within a few minutes' walk of the historic centre. Outside space and being able to explore the city on foot, without the need to take public transport, has become even more important since the arrival of COVID-19.

Hybrid options

Many venues offer options for hybrid events where face-to-face and virtual attendance can be combined. Meet Cambridge also has its own event management support partners to help you deliver a memorable event in a creative and professional way.

Ready for you

When it comes to hosting professional events, all the Meet Cambridge venues have highly experienced conference teams who are fully-trained and ready to help you to deliver an event that meets your objectives.

Recent times have necessitated additional safety protocols including enhanced hygiene practices so you can be confident that your attendees will be safe and looked after.

Expert advice

<https://www.cam.ac.uk/what-is-cambridge> is a website that provides information about the University of Cambridge, including its history, research, and student life.